A time for which we should all prepare." ("Preparing for Old Age," Ensign, Dec. 1976, p. 4.) Many different circumstances and factors affect the quality of a person's life in the later years. But there is a corollary between preparing for old age and enjoying it when it comes.

In the Time of Old Age - Barbara B. Smith

If you are 50 years of age, you can put in an extra $1,000 on top of the limit to "catch up." Take advantage of this if it's applicable to your situation. One more thing. If you start this process early enough (and you should start as soon as possible, regardless of age), hopefully you'll know how to swim because you'll be swimming in money.
